About the 2017 Silicon Valley Series of Events

The Dallas-based Technology Ball team has been hosting a series of CIO networking events in Texas since 2011 and an annual Silicon Valley event since 2013. In 2017, Silicon Valley efforts will expand to include two events – an after-work networking reception with a panel discussion, followed a few weeks later by a black-tie optional formal event. The unique Technology Ball format brings the tech community together, providing rare networking opportunities with leading CIOs, CTOs and VPs of IT (Executive Hosts) to mingle with Senior Representatives from Sponsoring Corporations. The social setting allows participants to generate new business relationships while strengthening existing ones, and the open networking environment brings target clients together, often resulting in closed pipeline. Proceeds from Technology Ball events support MentorNet and the organization's STEM Education initiatives to create future technology leaders.

Many opportunities exist in the Technology Community to network in a business setting. The 2017 Silicon Valley Series of Events, however, will provide a one-of-a-kind opportunity to engage with this community in a social setting – while “giving back” through a common, philanthropic cause.

About MentorNet

The Technology Ball team is proud to partner with MentorNet as the official Technology Ball nonprofit beneficiary. MentorNet is a national organization that helps student “protégés” pursuing a Science, Technology, Engineering, or Math (STEM) degree build a personal network of professional support through guided, one-to-one mentoring experiences. MentorNet's mission is to foster a prevalent culture of mentoring in STEM that empowers individuals to persist and succeed in their fields. MentorNet's on-line mentoring program helps STEM students in higher education to connect with STEM professionals across generational, gender, racial, cultural and socio-economic boundaries. MentorNet recently became a division of Great Minds in STEM (GMiS).
